Summary

I have been a tech enthusiast since middle school. Sometimes breaking things and exploring tech was my hobby until I started pursuing CSE formally by reading books and implementing my code. I have set up my path to pursue the things that excite me the most! Working on code has now become my passion and I look forward to convert it into my profession. I forged the ability to improvise and foster ideas and solutions that I get by the virtue of my hobbyist experience.

I am currently pursuing a bachelor's degree focused on Computer Science Engineering.

Interested in Web Development, iOS Development & using AI to my advantage, I would love to be a part of a diverse team of people working on areas that are in my interest.
